

OCCUPATION OF KOREA IS SAID TO BE A FEINT

Object of Mikado is To Take Port Arthur March 1.

Russian Commander Says He Will Not Surrender.

Japanese Squadron is Reported to Be off Vladivostok.

Unconfirmed Report That Two More of the Czar's Battleships Are Put Out of Commission-- Jap Censorship Severe--Big Land Battle Expected Soon--The Day's News From The Far East.

London, Feb. 29.—(Bulletin)—It is plain that the Japanese occupation of Korea is only a feint. Their object is to take Port Arthur first and troops now are surrounding it. Word has been received here that Japanese troops have orders to attack and capture Port Arthur March 1st at all costs.

RUSSIAN COMMANDER WILL NOT SURRENDER.

London, Feb. 29.—(Bulletin)—Ritter's Telegram company has received a dispatch from St. Petersburg stating that a telegram has been received there from Port Arthur reporting that General Stessel, the general commanding at the Port, today issued an order directing the attention of the troops and inhabitants to the fact that the Japanese intend to land at Port Arthur and seize the fortress. The general declares that he will never give the order to surrender. He calls on everybody to fight to the death as no one can save himself without fighting.

READY FOR ACTION.

Paris, Feb. 29.—A message received here from St. Petersburg reports that a Japanese squadron, ready for action, is off Vladivostok.

A second report states that it appears that the Japanese have advanced as far as the Gensan-Chang-Yon line, which is about 50 miles south of Ping-Yang, and have been held there owing to difficulties in communication. The Japanese have not been able to land more than 60,000 or 70,000 men, says the report, and the Russians are wondering whether the Japanese have modified their plans regarding a land attack near Ping-Yang.

MORE RUSSIAN BOATS ARE REPORTED SUNK.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—(Bulletin)—An unconfirmed report was received here this morning that two Russian battleships and a torpedo boat have been sunk at Port Arthur.

BRITISH COLLIER CAPTURED.

Liverpool, Feb. 29.—A private telegram received this afternoon reports that the Russians have captured the British collier Oriel, bound for the far East, in the Red Sea.

ANOTHER RUMOR.

Chifu, China, Feb. 29.—It is reported here that two Japanese warships have been compelled to make for Sasselo for repairs.

STUDENTS RIOT.

Berlin, Feb. 29.—The Tageblatt reports riots among the students at the universities at Odessa, Kieff and Kharkoff as a result of different opinions regarding the war. On one side are the students who are opposed to the war and favor Japan to some extent, while on the other as a smaller body of the patriotic students. Sanguinary conflicts have occurred in which the pro-Japanese students have overwhelmed the patriotic students. The authorities have passively permitted the fight to occur.

WIRELESS STATIONS.

New York, Feb. 29.—The London Times, it appears from dispatches furnished today, has completed its wireless stations at Chemulpo, Korea, and Wei-Hai-Wei, China. The DeForest wireless system is used.

The Chemulpo wireless dispatches relate to the Japanese disembarkations and preparations for a grand land battle in Korea. Twenty thousand men, 4,500 horses and six batteries of artillery have been landed. The dispatch says that the belief prevails in Chemulpo that the main plans of the Japanese will be held in abeyance pending the result of the operations against Port Arthur.

CHINA

The Secret Ally of Japan is a Claim Made Monday by a Russian Newspaper.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—The newspaper Sveit, in a leading article today, expresses the belief that China is the secret ally of Japan. Regarding this belief that paper says:

"Like England and America, China will do everything possible to injure Russia, and must be expected, eventually to throw off the mask and become an open enemy. To ward off a sudden attack by that enemy the Russian authorities in the far East are already taking precautions."

RUSSIANS INCENSED.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—The news that the United States had assented to the extension of the Pacific cable to Japan, with the reasons therefor assigned in dispatches from Washington, still further aggravated the popular belief that the United States is siding with Japan and against Russia. The Americans in St. Petersburg have all remarked on the changed demeanor of their Russian friends. Formerly they were treated with the greatest cordiality, but now the Russians greet them with the question: "Is America our secret enemy, and shall we have to fight her also before the war comes to an end?"

How deeply the Russians are wounded by the belief is destined, unless checked, soon to become a conviction, that America has spurned her old friend and is now playing a hostile part, is shown by this severance of personal ties, of which an instance occurred last week in a prominent drawing room, when the most intimate Russian friend of an American woman declined her proffered hand. On the woman's exclamation of astonishment, her friend burst into tears and said she felt aggrieved at all Americans since the reported action of the commander of the United States gunboat Vicksburg at Chemulpo.

CZAREVITCH

is Only Kept Afloat by Constant Pumping—Alexieff at Mukden.

Yin Kow, Feb. 29.—Viceroy Alexieff has arrived at Mukden, where he probably will remain until the reorganization of forces has been completed. He has been living aboard a train.

The only large cities that have not a large German population are Boston, with less than 5 per cent Germans and Washington, D. C. with 7 per cent.

but he will enter his headquarters today.

The schedule of all regular trains on the railroad has been annulled.

The Novi Kral declares there is great hostility in Korea, especially in Chemulpo, against the Japanese protectorate.

The Retvizan is serviceable as an auxiliary fort, but the foreign engineer has abandoned the hope of raising her.

The Czarevitch is kept afloat by constant pumping; the Novik has been repaired and the Pallada has been docked.

Repeated attacks by the Japanese during the past week have resulted in the constant shifting of the troops, including the naval contingent organized from the crews of the disabled and idle warships, to all parts of the defenses and also to the Hinterland.

Refugees who have arrived here report that the Russians momentarily fear a land investment of Port Arthur from Pigeon Bay.

GUNNERS

Of Japanese Fleet Are Better Marksmen Than the Russians—Novel Tactics of Togo.

Tokio, Feb. 29.—As the campaign progresses it seems that the chances are growing slimmer for a great pitched battle between the fleet of modern battle ships which the world has long awaited. It is believed that the Russians lack the strength to assume the offensive and that they will probably stick to Port Arthur, doggedly to await a sea and land investment. Whoever wins the war Port Arthur will cease to be an important base. The fortifications will probably be dismantled, as they are small and cramped, and however many guns are defending it, it is thought they are incapable of insuring protection. It is estimated that the Russians have 200 guns mounted at Port Arthur, making it, theoretically, one of the strongest forts in the world.

On account of Admiral Togo's success at Port Arthur the reopening of the sea to Japanese merchantmen and the revival of shipping, the Japanese government does not anticipate that it will have further need for the auxiliary cruisers America Maru and Yawata Maru, and they will be dismantled and returned to their owners.

Lack of details of formations, firing ranges and evolutions prevents a full understanding and appreciation of Admiral Togo's tactics. He seems to be endeavoring to accomplish the maximum destruction with the minimum of exposure. He is carefully balancing these considerations and relying upon superior mobility, marksmanship and ammunition.

Admiral Togo's reliance, particularly on gunnery, is fully warranted by gunners clearly outshooting the Russians. He constantly fought at long range, punishing the enemy severely and escaping without serious damage himself. The personnel of his forces is shown in another way by the superiority of the officers and men, who are anxious to undertake hazardous duty.

CENSORSHIP

is Vital to Japan—Success Depends Upon Striking Quickly Says Baron Hayashi.

London, Feb. 29.—In reference to the severity of the censorship exercised by the Japanese government over the news dispatches of foreign correspondents, Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister to Great Britain, said:

"I have had numerous representations from English and other newspapers upon this subject, but I believe that our position in the case is not only right but will be admitted to be such by those who look carefully into the circumstances."

"We are fighting against numerical odds which are quite out of proportion to the odds against any combatant in recent wars. We are fighting for our existence and our only hope of maintaining it is to strike swiftly and secretly at the beginning."

To get in the first blows means more to us than, I think, it has ever meant to any belligerent and to ensure this it is vital for us to demand a degree of secrecy which had not

BY FIRE

VILLAGE OF NEW YORK MILLS IS BADLY DAMAGED.

Loss Fully $200,000—Several Stores at Camden, Del., Burned on Monday Morning.

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 29.—The village of New York Mills, located four miles southwest of this city, suffered the worst fire in its history this morning when the "Burrstone" mill, one of the large groups of mills owned by the New York Mills company was destroyed, entailing a loss conservatively estimated at $200,000, all of which is covered by insurance. Several hundred operatives will be rendered idle for a number of months as a result of the fire. Corduroy was the principal product of the mill.

Fire at Camden, Del.

Camden, Del., Feb. 29.—Burglars in attempting to loot a Camden National bank at 4 o'clock this morning set fire to the building. The bank building, opera house and several stores were destroyed. Loss, $29,000. Stephen V. Miller and James C. McCombs were injured during the fire.

Canal Commission.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The President today sent to the Senate the following nominations: to be chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Rear Admiral John G. Walker, U. S. N. (retired), District of Columbia, to be members of the Isthmian Canal Commission, Major General George W. Davis, U. S. A. (retired) of District of Columbia, Wm. Barclay Parsons of New York; Carl Ewald Grunsky of California; Frank J. Hecker of Michigan.

Last year there were 50,156 applications for patents at the Patent Office in Washington. Of these 29,892 were granted. The receipts of the office were $1,500,000. The Patent Office is the only Government bureau that is operated at a profit.

M'DONALD

Given a Preliminary Hearing on the Charge of Murdering Miss Schaefer.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 29.—James McDonald, who has been confined in the Bloomington jail, charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Catherine Schaefer, was brought here this morning by Detective Reed and Sheriff Smith. A crowd which filled the streets near the Monon passenger station, awaited the arrival of McDonald and when the incoming train arrived, McDonald greeted them with a smile and was hurried to the city hall, where he will be given a preliminary hearing. The grand jury convened this morning and will consider evidence concerning the recent murder.

ELECTIONS

In Cuba Passed Off Without Disturbances—The Fears of Trouble Prove Unfounded.

Havana, Feb. 29.—The congressional elections, the first ever conducted entirely under Cuban auspices, were quiet and well conducted.

Secretary of the Interior Yero and General Rodriguez, commander of the Rural Guards, received dispatches throughout the day from all parts of the island and not a single instance of disorder was reported.

Cienfuegos, which was the scene of disturbances during the campaign, was no exception to this freedom from disorder.

The conduct of those in charge of the polling places was excellent. The ballots were printed on the American plan.

The day was particularly quiet in Havana. Considerable activity was shown, however, and many carriages were used to bring the voters to the polls.

According to reports from the larger cities the Republicans elect all of their congressmen and provincial councillors in Santa Clara province and a majority of those in Matanzas province, while in Pinar del Rio they were divided. The Liberal Nationalists won practically everything in Havana and Santiago provinces, while the Moderate Liberals prevailed in Puerto Principe. In the Santiago province the main contest was between the Moderate Liberals and the Radicals.

While the Liberal representation in the Lower House of Congress appears to have been increased by several seats the small Republican majority in the Senate will prevent any radical change of policies.

SAFE FROM A MOB.

Prompt Action of the Governor and Military Prevented the Burning of a Negro at the Stake In State of Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 29.—The negro, Albert Baldwin, who was to be burned Sunday at Tutwiler for the murder of Engineer Fogarty, lies safe in a cell of the Jackson jail and what was planned to be a most horrible crime has been saved the state. The summary mob vengeance was averted by the prompt action of Governor Vardaman, whose views on the negro question have been the subject of so much discussion.

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a special coach hitched to the north-bound limited brought Baldwin to the city, escorted by the Greenwood company under the command of Captain Kessler. Adjutant General Fridge and Governor Vardaman. Not 20 people at the Jackson depot knew what was going on.

The negro was placed in a hack and taken to the jail by Adjutant General G. Fridge. Governor Vardaman went to the mansion and the Greenwood company stepped from the coach of the special to the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley train and left immediately for their home in Greenwood. The trip was not without accident or incident. The Governor and the Adjutant General left here at 10 o'clock. They arrived in Greenwood about 2, where they were met by Captain Kessler with 45 men of the Greenwood company and 15 men from the Itta Benna company under Lieutenant Rich.

No time was lost in Greenwood, and the special pulled straight out over the branch for Grenada. At Grenada a serious accident was narrowly averted. There was a collision between one of the freights in the Grenada yards and the special, and the soldiers were greatly shaken up, the Governor being bruised. It was known that the engineer was in sympathy with the burning of the negro, and it was thought at one time that the accident was premeditated, but an investigation proved this to be incorrect. The 45 miles between Grenada and Batesville was made in 50 minutes. It was a race for life, for it was known that when daylight came the Tutwiler mob would be after the negro. Sheriff Johnston had a picked posse of 15 men protecting the negro, and immediately upon the arrival of the Governor and the militia company the negro was taken to the railway station and turned over to the Chief Executive and the soldiers.

One Man Killed and Two Injured.

A NEGRO WHO JUMPED WITH A BUNCH OF LETTERS

THOUGH FRIGHTFULLY INJURED

Dragged Himself Three Miles Before He Was Captured and the Letters Recovered.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 29.—In an attempt by a gang of negro desperadoes to rob a postal car on train No. 2 of the Queen & Crescent limited between New Orleans and Cincinnati, which left Meriden, northbound early this morning, J. T. Stockton, a postal clerk, was shot and killed and Postal Clerk A. J. Bass was shot in the arm. The shooting was done by Jim Paris, colored. After the shooting Paris seized a package of registered letters and sprang from the train. In doing so he fell and had one leg crushed off, but he managed to drag himself three miles, where he was captured, and the letters were recovered.

VIEW OF PORT ARTHUR SHOWING THE POSITION OF THE RUSSIAN VESSELS SUBSEQUENT TO THE NIGHT ATTACK OF THE JAPANESE TORPEDO FLOTILLA AND DURING THE DAY BATTLE WITH THE JAPANESE FLEET.

The Japanese demonstrated in their double attack on the Russian vessels at Port Arthur the quality of their strategy. First, their torpedo boats were permitted to be seen in the hope of getting the Russians to come out after them, when the entire Japanese fleet would have joined in the attack. Failing in this, the Japs made their torpedo attack by night. Then, instead of running in to put the crippled Russians out of commission and taking chances of being injured by the forts, they remained at a distance of three miles, as they realized that their superior marksmanship was a greater element in their favor at that range than at a shorter one.

FATHERLY CHICAGO BANK.

Its Employees Warned Not to Marry on Less Than $1,000 a Year.

Dan Cupid and the officers of the Corn Exchange National bank in Chicago have crossed swords, and all employees of the big financial institution who receive less than $1,000 a year, would they take unto themselves a wife, must do their courting unknown to the bank officers, says a Chicago dispatch. The employees of the bank became aware of this attitude on the part of their employers when this notice was posted on the wall for their inspection:

Employees of this bank receiving a salary of less than $1,000 a year must not marry without first consulting the bank officials and obtaining their approval.

The bank says its action was not taken to discourage matrimony under proper circumstances. Married men are considered by the bank to be more faithful and reliable as a rule, but the clerk receiving $40 or $50 a month, it is declared, is not in a position to assume family cares in Chicago.

More than 200 men are employed by the Corn Exchange National bank. Of these 170 are on the clerical force. It is said that many of those receiving less than $1,000 a year already are married. It is denied that the matrimonial edict will be retroactive.

"We issued that order because we believed it was nonsense for a man to attempt to take care of a wife and family with an annual income of $1,000," said D. A. Moulton, vice president of the bank.

"We start young men in as messengers at a small salary and increase it as they show aptness and ability for the work. Most of them rise rapidly and are paid accordingly. It would be folly for any one to marry before he is able to support a wife. We would feel ourselves partly responsible for any misery which might follow if we approved of such a course."

ROUGH RIDERS FOR JAPAN.

Ex-Members of Roosevelt's Famous Regiment to Help Fight Russia.

A regiment of rough riders is to be organized for service with the Japanese forces against the Russians by Captain Robert H. Bruce, who commanded Troop M of Colonel Roosevelt's famous regiment, and Major Henry B. Hersey, who was major in the rough riders. Hersey will be colonel. The regiment will be formed from the old members of the Roosevelt regiment, says a New Orleans dispatch.

While Japan has refused to receive foreigners in the military or naval service, Major Hersey has been advised that a regiment of cavalry will be accepted, as the cavalry branch is Japan's greatest military weakness. Captain Bruce says Major Hersey has been informed that many members of the rough riders will readily respond to a call for Japanese service.

It is the intention to organize the regiment in Texas, where it will be thoroughly drilled. It will be equipped entirely with American arms and accoutrements, but the equipment and the men cannot go together. The men will have to leave as individuals and mobilize at some point in the Pacific.

Major Hersey resides at Louisville, Ky., and Captain Bruce is a resident of Mobile, Ala.

THE GROWTH OF HARBIN

Russia's Base of Supplies in Manchuria.

KNOWN AS THE MOSCOW OF ASIA

Development of the City in a Few Years One of the Wonders of the World, but Americans Are Kept Out—Distinctly a Russian City—Fertile Agricultural Environs.

The war in the far east has made interesting reading out of the narrative of Henry B. Miller, United States consul at Newchwang, Manchuria, whose report for the year 1900 of conditions in the district of Manchuria has been recently published by the department of commerce and labor at Washington.

Mr. Miller devotes his main attention to the remarkable growth of the town of Harbin, whose development he characterizes as "one of the greatest achievements in city construction the world has ever witnessed." Viceroy Alexeieff has made Harbin his headquarters and will conduct his campaign from that point.

Harbin, which is called the Moscow of Asia, is located on the Sungari river, where the Manchuria spur of the Siberian railroad crosses and where the Chinese eastern branch stretches south to Dainy and Port Arthur. It is 350 miles west of Vladivostok and about 600 miles north of Port Arthur, the geographical center of Manchuria.

Surrounding the city, spreading out on all sides for hundreds of miles, lies an extremely fertile agricultural country, yielding corn, wheat, oats, barley, beans, millet, hemp, tobacco, vegetables and various fruits. There are also vast tracts of timber and mineral lands and stretches of grazing country. The place is now divided into the old town, some few miles from the central depot; Preston, the river town and present commercial center, and the administration town, in close proximity to the railroad station. The whole town of Harbin Mr. Miller calls a Russian product, nonexistent before the advent of the railroad engineers. The city was created by the Russian government under the supervision of the Manchurian Railway company.

"It is as distinctly a Russian city," says the United States representative, "as though it were located in the heart of Russia, and none but Russians and Chinese are permitted to own land, construct buildings or engage in any permanent enterprise. The land for many miles has been secured so as to make it impossible for any foreign influence to secure a profit or foothold close to the city, and foreigners are not recognized as having any rights whatever, but are permitted there by sufferance. The chief railway engineer is the administrator of the city and up to the present time has had complete control of everything, but in the new scheme for the government of Manchuria some form of municipal organization will be permanently established."

An idea of the rapid growth of Harbin may be gathered from a few statistics. Four years ago the town began to assume shape. In 1901 the population had grown to 12,000 Russians, by 1902 it jumped to 20,000, by May of last year it more than doubled itself, and five months later the census showed a population of 60,000, not counting soldiers. Over 98 per cent of these are Russians, 400 are Japanese, and 300 more include Austrians, Greeks, Turks and Germans. Harbin has no Americans.

Located in a special settlement lives the Chinese population of more than 40,000. The employees of the railway company, with their families, contribute 11,000 more to the sum total. At the present time it would be conservative to estimate the aggregate population at 125,000.

Harbin has few of the characteristics of the "boom" city of western United States, for it is founded on an enduring basis and not on a speculation. It is the center of the entire railroad administration of Manchuria, and since the Russian commercial enterprises of the far east are under the direction of the railway company, it is the opinion of Mr. Miller that it will also be the center of Russian industrial and commercial development. It is the headquarters of the civil courts and the chief military post and the point of control of the great army of railway guards. The city therefore contains the principal administration buildings and the residences of the officials and employees of the Manchurian Railway company. The outlay for administrative purposes on the city has alone amounted already to the sum of 30,000,000 rubles, or about $15,500,000. To mention but a few of the other prominent structures, a Russo-Chinese bank, a hotel, a technical school, hospitals, a commercial and girls' school, a club and store for employees, and eight schools for teaching Russians Chinese and for teaching Chinese Russian have been erected at a cost of between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 rubles.

Siberian Jews and Chinese are furnishing most of the capital for the operation of the many manufacturing enterprises and the construction of the principal private buildings. The leading industry of Harbin is the manufacture of flour. Eight mills, valued at 1,200,000 rubles, are now running, equipped with a great deal of European and very little American machinery. Two more will shortly be opened, the ten giving a daily output of nearly 1,000,000 pounds. Wheat delivered at the mill sells for 30 and 35 cents (gold) a bushel. Other important manufactures are brick, made by Chinese who work for 18 cents (35 kopecks) a day; beer and vodka, the popular Russian liquor.

THE KAISER'S LITTLE WAR.

THOMAS S. O'BANNON.

Mr. Thomas S. O'Bannon, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Licking county, died at his home in Madison township, one-half mile north of the Licking County Children's Home, on Sunday morning at 9:20 o'clock.

The funeral services were held from his late home on Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. L. S. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, officiating, and the interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The deceased was in the 86th year of his age, and died from the general debility incident to old age, in addition to a stroke of paralysis which he received about a year ago.

Mr. O'Bannon was a son of the late Judge William O'Bannon of Madison township, who was one of the associate judges in the pioneer days of the country. Three brothers, Rev. P. N. O'Bannon, George O'Bannon and Judge William O'Bannon Jr. and a sister, Mrs. Seymour, preceded him to the spirit land some years ago, as did also his beloved wife.

The deceased leaves two children, Charles O'Bannon, who resides at the old home place, and Harry O'Bannon, a resident of California. Another son, James O'Bannon, died two weeks ago in California.

Mr. O'Bannon had resided at his beautiful country seat east of Newark for a period of 50 years, and for many years was a well known and prominent figure on our streets. He was a kind husband and father, a devoted friend and an honest man, whose death will be sincerely mourned.

MRS. DAVID LOUGHERY.

Mrs. Flora Ellen Loughery, aged 40 years, died at her home 507 East Main street at 9:17 o'clock Sunday night after a three weeks' illness with acute pulmonary trouble.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Fordyce, and was born at Spencer's station, coming to Newark a score of years ago.

She leaves a husband, David Loughery, the well known B. & O. engineer, and five children. The latter are Mary, Carrie, Flora, Willie and Ralph. Her mother, two brothers and three sisters also survive. They are Messrs. Harry Fordyce, chief train dispatcher for the B. & O., Charles Fordyce, a B. & O. engineer, Mrs. Sam Hickey, Mrs. E. W. Murphy of Newark, and Mrs. Reginald Woolway of Chicago.

Mrs. Loughery was a member of the First Presbyterian church and a most estimable Christian woman, whose death is most deeply deplored.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house, the services being conducted by Rev. L. S. Boyce, and interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

ELI DAVIS.

The remains of Eli Davis, a former Newark resident, who died at St. Paul, Minn., arrived in Newark Sunday and the funeral took place at 10:30 Monday morning from St. Paul's Lutheran church. Rev. J. C. Schindler officiating. The deceased leaves two daughters, Mrs. J. J. Hannon of St. Paul, and Mrs. Frank Norman of Illinois.

MRS. PHILIP KILEY.

Mrs. Philip Kiley, widow of Philip Kiley, deceased, of Urbana, O., died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Patrick Kennedy, 42 East street on Sunday afternoon at 12:20 o'clock. Mrs. Kiley had been a sufferer with kidney trouble for the past three months, but had only been bedfast about one week. The deceased was aged about 66 years, and leaves three daughters, Mrs. B. H. Brennan of Springfield, O., and Miss Mary Kiley of Columbus. Besides these she leaves two granddaughters, Mrs. James Dwyer of this city, and Miss Mattie Whalen of Springfield.

The funeral will take place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, and the interment will be made at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Mrs. Kiley's maiden name was Mary Morrow, and she was born in Kilkenny, Ireland. When quite young she came to this country, and was married to Mr. Philip Kiley in Rochester, N. Y. and for a number of years lived in Marion, Ind.

The deceased had been a life long member of the Catholic church, and was a model Christian woman in every respect. Her death will be sadly mourned.

Wm. Spencer, a young man about 18 years of age, was bound over to Probate court in the sum of $50 for alleged assault and battery on a woman named Florence Martin.

The testimony showed it was a neighborhood quarrel, and that Mrs. Martin went into Spencer's yard where her daughter was involved in a difficulty, and young Spencer pushed or knocked her down. She was not badly hurt.

Officer Zergiebel took Spencer to jail and a pathetic sight was witnessed on Main street as the youthful prisoner, who has a good appearance, stooped and kissed his mother and sister good bye at the foot of the stairs leading up to the city hall.

LEAP YEAR

BABY IS BORN AT HIGH NOON ON FEBRUARY 29, 1904.

Little Girl Will Have Birthday Parties Only Once in a Long While—A Few Observations.

There will be one person in Newark, at least, who will not have a birthday celebration again for four years. It is the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer of Shuler street, who was born Monday at high noon, February 29, 1904. The happy father is a popular B. & O. machinist.

The Advocate at 3 p. m., telephoned to 38 doctors in Newark and so far as known at that hour the stork had paid but one visit and that at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bauer, during the day.

Children who have been born on February 29, must labor under a handicap all the years of their lives. When other people get birthday presents annually these Februaryites have to stand aside and, full of envy, watch the proceedings, knowing full well that their chance will not come around for a year or two.

The Pittsburg Dispatch declares that there ought to be a law enacted against being born on Feb. 29, because it is the cause of so much disappointment in later years. For three years out of every four the poor 29th of February fellow has to go searching fruitlessly up and down the calendar for his birthday. He finds it has been dropped out. The calendar-makers may have good reasons for slighting the day, three years out of four, but it is certainly a serious drawback to those who want to see it annually.

For all the difference it would make the 1st of March in off years ought also to be put down as the 29th of this month, so that these children of leap year might, at least, not think they had been forgotten. However, the only way they can make up for it is to have four birthday celebrations in one. The first might take place in the morning, the next at noon, another in the early evening and the last before going to bed. But then that sounds like the directions on a bottle of medicine, which is worse and more of it.

Miss Fannie Fay Hook, daughter of Mayor C. A. Hook of Asheville, Ohio, has the proud distinction of having had fewer birthday anniversaries than most young women of her age. On Monday, February 29, Miss Hook became 16 years old, but she has really had but two birthday anniversaries during these 16 years. She was born February 29, 1888, a leap year. Her first birthday anniversary was on February 29, 1902, her second on February 29, 1896, and her third was on Monday, February 29, 1904.

FATAL CASE

A PUBLIC DANGER AND WHY CARE SHOULD BE TAKEN

Your attention has not been called to this public danger for some time and we believe it is our duty to inform the people that the majority of fatal pneumonia cases are caused by the patient taking for a cold some so-called "cough cure" or "balm," which depends upon poisonous drugs for their effect.

These drugs deaden the nerves and stop secretion along the breathing tract, which is always followed by congestion and inflammation—that causes pneumonia. Without these injurious drugs, Father John's Medicine cures colds, long standing coughs, and all throat and lung troubles. It is not a patent medicine.

Father John's Medicine sold in Newark by J. W. Collins & Son.

Alston Gibson, of Calero, Ala., has just reached the age of 110, having fought in the battle of New Orleans under Andrew Jackson and was a soldier of the Creek and Seminole wars.

SPRING STYLES.

Fresh and Attractive Suits—The New Shirt Waist Suit.

Spring styles, perennial in their interest and pleasure to everybody possessing a spark of femininity, are again upon us, and the Pictorial Review depicts some of them as follows: Most coats have large sleeves, some open, some closed, with large cuffs, all showing the "lingerie" idea. Some have underpuffs of lace with a deep cuff extending over the hand, or a deep frill of lace falls from the slit in the back of the cuff.

The new boleros hang very loose; the sleeves are wide with wide cuffs and fall of lace over the hands. The fronts turn back with facings of embroidery. Lace applications and ruffles of plaited narrow ribbon trim the deep creases that fall over the shoulders. Some beautiful trimming effects are obtained by bars of braid crossed over bands of silk. A very little gold or silver is a charming touch in a trimming. Much of it, however, would tend to cheapen the effect. Then there are the handsome embroidered buttons of various sizes. These make delightful fancy work, being mounted on wooden buttons molds when finished.

A very important item is the absence of the high collar on the new coats and most of the blouses. This is another of the charming 1830 revivals, the dainty turndown collar of embroidery or lace setting off the throat. Of course the high collar must remain because so many women cannot wear low collars, but even these may find a compromise in the wide throat band of black velvet ribbon tied in a pretty little bow at the side. A lace barbe or soft satin ribbon may take the place of the velvet if preferred.

The turndown collar is finished with one of the old fashioned large brooches, worn with or without the flat 1830 bow.

With these low collar effects the long drop earrings are making their appearance, and the long tress of hair is also on regie.

Blouses are a great vogue in complete suits in the lighter weight materials, coming really under the description of shirt waist suits. Most of these have low yokes, the fullness being shirred on and again drawn together at the waist under the very fashionable wide belt. But these high belts are rarer than they were, giving the Russian blouse effect. Instead of shirring, tucking is often used, the shirring having too full an effect for many figures.

Many blouses open over pretty vests of fancy silk, tucked muslin or embroidery. What is called the "surplice waist" is in favor, the bertha falling deep over the shoulders, crossing in front below the bust and ending on the left in the waistband. This is a becoming mode for stout figures and is here illustrated in a washable shirt waist suit trimmed with daisies and lace medallions.

In the fancy styles of trilling is 1830, with the addition of a date article, puffs set on with narrow plaited ruffles of ribbon, ruffles of shirred and plaited silk and trimmings of broad, much of which is treated in the same manner.

Little flat convention blouses are made of the material of the dress, cut on the bias, either trimmed around and finished with a little belt in the middle. Others are made of a cloth or four flat loops forming a sort of clover leaf, from which depend two or three ends.

The skirts are plaited or shirred to the waistband with a ple or double panel front. Only a few figures may wear such broken lines in skirts, but there are so many lovely styles that give grace and slenderness that one can easily find just the right thing. The long flowing lines, the panel effect and long shirrings are a boon to the stout figure. A little shirring can be introduced in the dress without any detriment.

Hip girdles are coming, but are not as much seen as last season. It is just a matter of time. The skirt full about the hips, being in front, the back and sides are being changed and the skirt is being made longer as it has been.

BED ROCK DEMOCRACY.

Governor Garvin, of Rhode Island, an unflinching Democrat, made a speech at Providence the other evening in which he discussed the coming Democratic platform and duty. The essentials he set forth in these brief paragraphs, and they commend themselves to Democrats in all parts of the country. First said Governor Garvin:

All Democrats of every stripe agree that the tariff should be so altered as to no longer shelter the trusts, that it should be made impossible for any American industry to sell to foreigners more cheaply than to our own citizens, and that import taxes upon the raw materials of many industries are a serious obstacle to the sale of their products abroad.

All Democrats are opposed to private monopolies of every kind, including the trusts, and believe that much more effective measures can be found for their destruction than any which have been applied or recommended by the present administration.

All Democrats are agreed that our foreign policy should be in harmony with the principles upon which this Government is founded, and that the constitutional liberty, which has been our boast, should be extended to every inch of American soil.

There remains then, said the Rhode Island Governor after this clear enunciation of principles, the money question as the only bone of contention. He regarded the question of money standards as not one of principle, but only a "difference of opinion as to the better means of reaching the common end—a sound and stable currency."

As to the reaffirmation of the National platform, it is a small matter to divide upon, and is only a question of expediency, and not of principle. The governor declared that he did not believe that any party should reaffirm a former platform. Continuing he said:

If a party holds the same views today as a year ago, then let it express them in the same language, if thought desirable; but as a matter of fact, seldom would two conventions or committees make use of the same form of words upon any subject. Political conditions never remain unchanged for two successive years, and the new circumstances call for a new expression. If the members of the committee on resolutions of the last National convention were reappointed at St. Louis, they would draw up a different platform, and be consistent in so doing. To do otherwise would be to put new wine into old bottles.

Then these words of counsel followed that should be well considered: "To restore either our State or Nation to the control of a majority of the voters is a herculean task. It can only be done by the united and determined action of all those who have a living faith in our form of government. It calls for the best energies of both laborers and capitalists, of the highly educated and the common people. To bring about such union we are called upon to devote our every effort, and, short of an abandonment of principle, to make any personal sacrifice to patriotism."

The live issues of the day are the tariff, the trusts and our foreign policy.

ROOSEVELT

COSTS THE GOVERNMENT NEARLY MILLION DOLLARS.

Details of Expense He Has Necessitated—A New $90,000 Stable is Now Asked For.

Washington, Feb. 29.—President Roosevelt since he became head of the Government has done things that no previous President did or seemed to care about. His orders have cost the country close to a million dollars, and if he keeps it up before the fall campaign opens he will pass the high mark.

His last request, which has started talk, is that Congress through the secretary of the treasury build for him present one inadequate and so damp that it endangers his horses and has killed several of the most valuable ones. The site of the present stable is poor, he declares, and wants one on higher ground.

Expense account to date follows: Improving and furnishing White House, $475,000.

Refurnishing Mayflower, President's yacht, $100,000.

Office building at White House, $65,000.

Cost of keeping two ships ready this summer for President's use, $25,000.

Refitting Mayflower in 1902 and 1903 for President's use, $65,000.

Cost this year, $30,000.

Cost of keeping Mayflower and Sylph in readiness for President in 1902 and 1903, $60,000.

In Favor of Cleveland.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 29.—This morning's Courier publishes interviews with prominent Democrats in most of the towns of western New York on their choice for president. Every man says emphatically that he favors the nomination of Grover Cleveland. That Cleveland would surely win is the keynote of the opinion expressed.

FIVE TIMES

As Many Killed in Railway Accidents in America as in England—The Explanation.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—A report of the number of persons killed and injured on railroads in the United States compared with the number in Great Britain for the six months ending June 30, 1903, shows 1,771 killed and 22,972 injured in this country, against 311 killed and 8,393 injured in Great Britain. The railroad reports explain this by the following statement:

"Taking into consideration the railway mileage in the United States is nine times that of the United Kingdom, the passenger mileage two and a third times greater, the freight ton mileage more than ten times greater, and the railway employees two and a half times as numerous the American railroads do not suffer in comparison."

In July, August and September 1,025 persons were killed on the railroads of the United States, an increase of 180 over the corresponding quarter for 1902. In the same time 14,162 were injured, an increase of 3,000 over the preceding year. The increase is partially accounted for by the growth in traffic and by the fact that accidents are now much more fully reported than they were in the preceding year. The quarter was marked by a number of most disastrous accidents, which swelled the total of fatalities, a condition which also will affect the returns for the last quarter of 1903.

CHILDREN PLAYED WOLF.

Five of Them Killed by Hunters Before Mistake is Discovered

Madrid, Feb. 29.—Twenty school children in the village of Hermisenda went into the woods the other day and, hiding themselves behind some bushes, endeavored to frighten passers-by by howling like wolves. The district is infested with wolves, and, naturally anybody who passed and heard the cry of the youngsters, fled in terror.

Presently four hunters reached the scene and fired into the bushes. Five of the children fell dead and two were badly wounded. When the hunters discovered their mistake, they buried the wounded children to the town hospital. Those who were fortunate to escape the bullets of the hunters rushed to their homes in wild terror. The father of one of the dead children, infuriated at the shooting of the hunters rushed to the hospital and fatally stabbed two of them before he was overpowered.

OLD SOLDIER KILLED.

A Veteran From Indiana Soldiers' Home Was Struck by a Pan Handle Train Near Hanover Saturday Afternoon and Instantly Killed-- Sent to Steubenville.

On Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock Coroner C. F. Legge received a message that an aged man had been struck by Pan Handle fast passenger train No. 14 in Sand Cut, about two miles east of Hanover, and instantly killed. The coroner went to the scene and ordered the remains brought to Newark, where it was prepared for burial at the Criss Brothers establishment. The man was identified by papers as Thomas Powers, 67 years of age, and an inmate of the National Soldiers Home of Indiana. A postal card evidently written by himself, was addressed to Annie M. Powers, 508 Clinton street, Steubenville, Ohio.

It was gathered from the tenor of the letter that Powers was walking toward Steubenville when he was struck by the train and killed.

The remains were shipped to Steubenville for interment.

The man's skull was crushed and both arms broken, but the body was not otherwise mangled.

SMALLPOX

Quarantine Prevents Officers from Entering House to Arrest Man Who Shot His Brother

Marion, Ind., Feb. 29.—John Jackson 18 years of age, shot and killed his brother, Charles Jackson, Sunday, at the Jackson home near Weaver, eight miles south of Marion. John Jackson has been suffering with smallpox and the family was under strict quarantine.

The cause of the shooting and full details of the tragedy are not known as the officers were afraid to enter the house on account of the smallpox. It is known that a shotgun was the weapon used and that the head of the victim was nearly blown off.

Members of the family notified the quarantine guard, who notified the Marion officers.

A member of the family stated that the shooting was accidental, but the officers say it may have been a murder or that Jackson might have been suffering with delirium as the result of his disease which caused him to commit the deed.

A strong guard was placed about the house to prevent the escape of the man who did the shooting.

John and Charles Jackson are sons of Samuel Jackson, a farmer. The family has been cut off from communication with all relatives and friends for some time on account of the quarantine, and now in the double affliction no one can visit them.

THREE JURORS

Fainted During the Arguments in a Murder Trial—Hughes Found Guilty in Second Degree.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 29.—One of the oddest coincidences in the history of court affairs in West Virginia occurred in Winfield, Putnam county, during the trial of Charles Hughes for the murder of John Mason which occurred in Bancroft last summer.

The trial lasted 10 days and just before the close of arguments of attorneys two of the jurors fell in a faint within a few minutes of each other. Court adjourned for an hour, and as the jurors were again resuming their seats in the jury box a third juror fell in a faint. Physicians cannot explain the odd occurrence.

At another time earlier in the trial of the case one of the lawyers asked for a recess of an hour, as he was deathly sick and had to be led from the court room. Hughes was convicted of second degree murder.

RIGID IN DEATH

Sitting in Their Chairs, Early Found Mother and Grandmother When He Returned to the House.

Huntington, Ind., Feb. 29.—The unresponsive coldness of death stamped upon the features of his grandmother and his mother was the unspoken answer to Albert Early's cheery greeting as he stepped into their house here on Sunday.

Both women were dead, although they sat upright in their chairs before the stove where he had left them alive a short time before, when he had gone out on an errand.

Upon recovering from the shock of horror Early learned that they had been asphyxiated. Gas had escaped from the stove and caused the death of both women.

The grandmother, Mrs. Mahala Altman, was 82 years old, and was a native of Stark county, O. Mrs. Early, the mother, was 62 years of age.

The funerals will be held Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons near North Manchester, Ind.

RUSSIANS IMPRESSING CHINESE AT MUKDEN.

Just prior to the beginning of hostilities a newspaper correspondent made a snapshot of the scene herewith illustrated, in which the Russian troops stationed there "to preserve order" are shown impressing the Chinese for service in the czar's army. It is not probable that they count upon the Chinese as fighting men, for the Chinaman is not very much of a soldier, but the orientals will be of great use in doing camp work, cooking, etc., which other troops would have to be done by Russians taken from the front.

BASKET BALL

NEWARK BOYS DEFEATED THE MUTES AT Y. M. C. A.

Closely Contested Game Played Here
Saturday Afternoon—The Final Score was 38 to 35

There has never been a more exciting game of basket ball played in Newark than that of Saturday afternoon between the Newark High School team and the Mutes of Columbus. In the first half the visitors outplayed the home team at all points and rolled up a score of 21 to 13 in their favor. The second half saw conditions reversed and the High School boys got together and played a game that simply outclassed the visitors. In this half Hart did star work making a number of difficult baskets, while Moore also did good work. Pine and Beecher who seemed to have an off day Saturday were also in much better form in the second half. These two players are stars, but is only justice to them to say that by their work in the second half they redeemed the indifferent play of the first. Beecher was not well, and on several occasions the plucky little forward had to have time taken out until he recuperated from injury or sickness.

Doughty's play against Robinson,
the star center, was in every way satisfactory to himself and the team's adherents. Robinson's goal throwing has never been surpassed in Newark and was easily one of the game's spectacular features. The teams lined up as follows:
Mutes (35) Position. (38) Newark.
March L. F. Beecher
Case R. F. Pine
Robinson C Doughty
Burehan L. G. Moore
Arras R. G. Hart
Score: Newark High School 38,
Mutes 35. Referee, Bannon; Umpire,

Chicago, Feb. 29.—Dr. William R.
Harper, president of the University of Chicago, is in such a serious condition that his friends are gravely apprehenday for appendicitis, but it is said that the operation is likely to be deferred until Tuesday, in the hope that he may be in better condition to withstand the shock. He has been suffering for several weeks and it is now admitted that the operation is a last hope. His friends express the fear that he is in such a serious condition that it is a question whether he can survive the operation.

Dr. Harper was resting quietly this morning, with the exception of extreme nervousness. His temperature was almost normal.

RUN DOWN AND NERVOUS

VINOL COMPLETELY RESTORED
MRS. BURNS' HEALTH.

Frank D. Hall, Our Well Known Druggist, Agrees to Return Money
if Vinol Fails

"Many people right here in Newark are all run down, hardly able to drag about, don't know what ails them. This condition is probably caused by a cold, or cough, which is hard to cure, overwork or too close confinement to business. Such people need Vinol," said Mr. Frank D. Hall, and the following letter is only one of many which we are constantly receiving showing what Vinol will do.

Mrs. W. T. Burns of Memphis, Tenn., who is national press correspondent of the W. R. C., writes: "Last winter I caught a severe cold which it seemed impossible for me to get rid of. I became much run down, lost my appetite and flesh and felt nervous and irritable. Vinol was recommended, and it certainly worked wonders for me; it increased my appetite, cured my indigestion, cough and nervousness, and I sleep soundly. I consider Vinol a wonderful remedy."

Vinol cures such condition because

MRS. W. T. BURNS.

it is the only preparation in the world that contains every one of the fifty odd medicinal curative elements found in fresh cods' liver, and without one drop of useless oil, which characterizes old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions. It imparts in a natural manner strength and vigor to every organ of the body, aids digestion and makes rich, red blood.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, everything is printed on the bottle: it contains iron, and in a highly concentrated form, all of the vitalizing properties contained in cod liver oil. It is delicious, and the weakest stomach can retain it.

We ask every run down, nervous depressed, aged or weak person in Newark and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, bronchitis or incipient consumption to try Vinol on our guarantee. It cost nothing if it fails to give satisfaction. Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

THE RAILWAYS

HIGH WATER CAUSES TROUBLE
FOR THE B. & O.

Railway Accidents of the Year—Leslie's Suggestion—A Budget of Local Happenings.

The B. & O. people experienced considerable trouble on the Lake Erie division of the road on Sunday night on account of the high water near Ankneytown and at Butler. At one point a short distance east of Butler, 60 feet of track was covered with two feet of earth, and in another place 80 feet of track was covered with earth to a depth of four feet. The work train from this city, in charge of Assistant Trainmaster Broughton, was sent to the scene of the trouble at 1 o'clock Monday morning. No. 8 was delayed about 12 hours and No. 14 about one hour.

Railway Accidents.

It is hard to understand the complacency with which the American people tolerate the reckless disregard of life that may fairly be said to characterize the railroads of this country. Each year the collected statistics of the dead and wounded rival the harvest of a war between great nations. In 1902 the injured numbered 4,662, the killed 8,500. Think of it. Men, women and children, enough to people such a city as Wilmington, stricken down because somebody makes a mistake.
In 1895 passenger travel was only five-sixths as heavy as it is today, but the list of killed and wounded was little more than half so great as the holocaust of last year. With each accident the neighboring community is aroused.
When an attempt is made to indict directors or a president, the public smiles, and the cynicism is justified.
Yet in nine cases out of ten the fault is due to incompetency tolerated, if not countenanced, by those in authority. When an army meets with disaster the general may blame his subordinates, but the nation holds him to account. In railroading, as in war, inefficiency is a crime, and as the general is absolutely responsible for his command, the president and directors must be made to answer to the public.

The conviction of a single $25,000 a year man might send a shudder round every director's table in the country.
but also it might cut down railroad accidents by a third.—From Leslie's Monthly for March.

KICKING A HINDOO

[Copyright, 1903, by Charles B. Lewis.]
While we were capturing wild beasts for Hagenbeck in the district of Bengal, India, we one day heard of a one-eyed tiger which had killed at least a dozen people and alarmed a district ten miles square. We were arranging for his capture when a native, who looked to be at least eighty years old, came forward and besought us not to meddle with the beast, as it was his mascot and had been for years. We ridiculed and scoffed the idea, and when the old man became persistent and insolent our manager, whose name was Robbins, kicked him out of camp.
The Hindoo went away cursing, and that afternoon Robbins had a pit dug on a jungle patch and a goat tied to a stake to bait the tiger. Some time during the night the Hindoo's mascot appeared, and in trying to seize the goat he fell into the trap.
It took us more than two days to get the fellow out of the pit and into a cage, and the cage had to be doubly strengthened to prevent escape. He had scarcely arrived in camp when the old man showed up again. The tiger not only recognized him at once, but exhibited every sign of pleasure at his presence.
The man began by offering us a fair cash value for the captive and finally raised his figures until the sum was doubled. The rest of us were for selling the beast, as he would fetch no more in Europe, but Robbins was sulky and spiteful and declared that no money could buy him. The Hindoo left us in as bad a temper as before, vowing that he would have his tiger back if it cost a hundred lives, and the animal's exertions to get free frightened most of the natives out of camp for an hour or two.

It was a month later that we reached Benares and landed our large collection of captive wild animals at the shipping depot. I had general charge of the depot, with forty or more native assistants. As the animals came in they were transferred to the usual iron cages used when shipping.
For ten days and nights all had gone well, but on a certain Sunday night, a quarter of an hour before I was to start out on my last round, I heard the one-eyed tiger cry out in a peculiar manner. It was just such a cry as he uttered when the Hindoo came into our camp in the jungle, a cry which you might imagine combined a hail of welcome and a threat of vengeance. I instantly suspected that the fakir must be in the building, and, reaching down for my revolver, I stepped out of the room. Just then there was a terrific roar from tigers, panthers, wolves and hyenas, followed by shouts from the men and queer noises from the elephants and buffaloes. I knew that I was too late. As I stood by the door pandemonium broke loose.
The Hindoo had kept his vow and followed us to Benares to secure vengeance. After his tiger had been placed in the shipping depot the man began work on the superstition of two of my native assistants, and after a few nights they let him into the enclosure and gave him the key to the animal's cage. On this night, after being in the cage with the tiger for half an hour, he had turned the beast loose in the big room and encouraged him to attack one of the elephants.

The man at once began freeing other animals, and as fast as one was freed he attacked another. Every assistant had rushed into the room at the first alarm, and not a dozen of them got out again alive. They were mauled and mangled by the elephants and buffaloes and attacked on sight by the tigers and panthers. In five minutes after the tiger's first scream every animal in the building was mad with fright and a desire for blood, and had I a hundred men at my back nothing could have been done.
In fleeing down a passage to get to an outside door I ran against a buffalo, crept under the belly of an elephant and brushed a tiger which was lapping up blood. I reached the door and passed out to find a crowd of a thousand people surrounding the building. I was hardly out when the central structure took fire from the broken lamps, and then the uproar became something positively terrific.
The door to the forage room had been broken open—it had been fastened by the Hindoo, who meant that every human being in the buildings should suffer death—and ten or twelve men pulled out alive. Of these two died next day of their injuries. No one dared to open the great doors and let the maddened animals out, nor did the firemen who came out from the city dare go inside to fight the flames. A portion of the depot was saved by a change of wind, but what beasts and birds escaped the flames were suffocated by the smoke.
Not one single captive of any sort was taken out alive. Among the dead were the Hindoo and his tiger. The man had been gored to death by a buffalo as he moved about inciting the animals to attack each other, and the tiger was dead from the bite of a cobra, which he had attacked as it glided about.
The battle between the beasts and the conflagration lasted for the best part of two hours, and never were people treated to a more barbaric exhibition. While attacking the assistants the beasts also fought each other, and even had no fire started I doubt if we should have saved beast or animal except in a crippled condition.
Robbins had the satisfaction of kicking a Hindoo who dared to talk back to him, but Hagenbeck had to pay for it to the tune of $100,000, to say nothing of the many lives lost and the interruption to business.

BIOGRAPHIES WANTED

By CYRUS DERICKSON

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.

The Bebee Settlement was so called because so many farmers of that name, and all related, had settled there. It was at peace with all mankind and the farmers being their corn when something like a cloudburst happened. A stranger arrived at the house of Silas Bebee and sat down to a boiled dinner with him and afterward held a long and interesting conversation. Mr. Graves, as the stranger gave his name, was one of the partners in a big publishing house which made a specialty of publishing the biographies of the old and eminent families of America. The name of Bebee, as he had discovered by long and patient research, dated back to the year 900 and had been borne by princes, dukes, counts, barons, poets and soldiers. What Mr. Graves wanted was to bring the Bebee biography down to Silas and let the world know that the family was still on tap and as eminent as in days of yore. He wanted to fill at least ten pages of the gilt backed book he was getting out with the sayings and doings of Silas, while the eleventh page should be taken up with a full length portrait of the sturdy old farmer. The biography and the portrait would be free, but in order to cover the cost of the glue and the stitching Silas would have to come down with $25 in cash.

"I don't think I'll trade," was the reply when the caller had stated his case. Mr. Graves seemed to have prepared himself for just such an answer, and he turned away with:

"Very well, Mr. Bebee. As you are the most prominent of the family, I naturally came to you first, but as you don't care for the honors I shall go to Reuben. I think he will jump at the opportunity, being as he wants to be elected county supervisor next year. Good day, Mr. Bebee."

There wasn't a feeling of brotherly love between Silas and Reuben. Both wanted to "run things," and naturally that brought about a clash. Silas had some thoughts of running for county supervisor himself, and it was news to him and news he did not like that Reuben was planning to mix in. He did some rapid thinking. Mr. Graves had not climbed into his buggy when he was called back and a bargain concluded. The rest of the afternoon and all the evening were spent in listening to Silas Bebee's history, covering a period of some fifty-six years. Mr. Graves made copious notes and nodded his head from time to time, and all went well with the story. Bedtime had come, and Silas had given in sufficient matter for his ten pages when his wife, who had all along been doing a heap of thinking, rose and inquired:

"Silas, am I to be left out of this thing as I didn't amount to shucks? If I haven't helped you to be the biggest toad in the puddle, who has?"

"They never say anything in books about big women, do they?" he asked of Mr. Graves.

"Well, very seldom," was the reply. "I believe they have mentioned Cleopatra and one or two others, but those were exceptional cases. Still, as your wife says—"

A Salvini Incident.

The late Alexander Salvini was once playing Hamlet in a small Wisconsin town. The theater was the crudest of structures, and the stage had been contrived for the occasion by the simple device of elevating a platform on four posts. When the gravedigging scene was reached a draft of cold air blew up through the aperture in the stage and not only caused the gravediggers' teeth to chatter, but played freaks with their garments.
Salvini, entering with Horatio, heard from the grave only a strange jumble of words bitten in pieces by the cold clown's clicking teeth. But when he saw the loose garments of the workmen shivering so badly in the breeze the irrelevant sight was too much for him, and laughter checked his speech. He tried to say, "Has this fellow no feeling of his business that he sings at gravedigging?" but he had to turn his face away from the audience and laugh, while the gravediggers carried the scene along with much fuss of occupation with pick and spade till Hamlet had recovered his gravestone.

In the cornfield with his hoe, and he leaned against the fence and heard what the publisher had to say and then replied:

"By gum, but I always knew Silas Bebee was a sneak, and now it's proved! He wants folks to think he's the big Bebee, does he? Wants the world to believe that all the other Bebees stand around and look at him with their mouths open? Well, I'll bust up his little circus for him!"

Mr. Graves had struck a good thing, and he was the man to push it. Reuben wanted more pages than Silas had. His sons wanted to spread out in a liberal manner, and Mr. Graves fixed matters to suit them and himself. He had free board and lodgings for four days and departed with cash enough to buy a fur lined overcoat for the next winter. In honor bound, as he informed Reuben, he must call on Salathiel Bebee, but only to make sure whether his grandfather was bitten by a mad dog in the state of Ohio or Michigan. He called. Salathiel was uprooting the pigweeds which had crept into his garden, and when Mr. Graves had explained the biography business to him he straightened up and said:

"You kin pass right on. I ain't buyin' no gold bricks today."

But Mr. Graves didn't pass. He showed the contracts entered into with Silas and Reuben, and he added the remark that it was too bad there were only two eminent families of Bebees. Then Salathiel struck the trunk of a cherry tree with his fist and exclaimed:

"By John Rodgers, but the idea of them Bebees passin' themselves off the smartest and best in America! They do know how to farm, and I won't go for to deny it, but as for bein' big guns they ain't kneed high. I'm no hand to brag, but if I don't lay over Silas and Reube every day in the week then you kin kick me clear across the barnyard."

The rest was easy, of course. There were Salathiel, his wife and two sons and two daughters, and all had to go into that book regardless of space or cost. Mr. Graves was not an impetuous man, and he took his time writing out his notes and managed to get five days' free board and lodgings. Then he departed to "work" Moses, Abraham, Jacob, Peter, Paul and several other Bebees, securing victims in each and every family and in one instance taking in everything from the grandmother down to the infant in the cradle. He put in a full month at his work, and he had the best beds and the best meals. After his coming the Bebees no longer neighbored, and they passed each other with their heads held high and their noses turned up. In one or two cases the young men came to blows, and lawsuits were started over old matters. Things were edging along toward a grievous state of affairs when Mr. Graves and his notes and his money departed, and three days later a detective arrived in search of him and exposed him as a swindler. The Bebees didn't want to and couldn't believe it at first, but the evidence submitted was too strong for them to stand against, and after a due amount of weeping and wailing and swearing a meeting of all the families was held, and it was unanimously

"Resolved, That while the Bebees date back to the year 900 this year saw the whole darn caboodle making fools of themselves without reason or excuse, and we won't do it again."

Dashed to Earth Again.

"It's real interesting to read about these folks that lived in mythological times," said Mr. Cobb as he put a slip of paper in his library book and shut it carefully. "Seems as if 9 o'clock came quicker than ever I knew it to before."

Mrs. Cobb was putting a large patch on one elbow of her waist, and she held it close to the lamp in what seemed to her husband an ostentatious way. He turned aside in his chair to avoid the view.

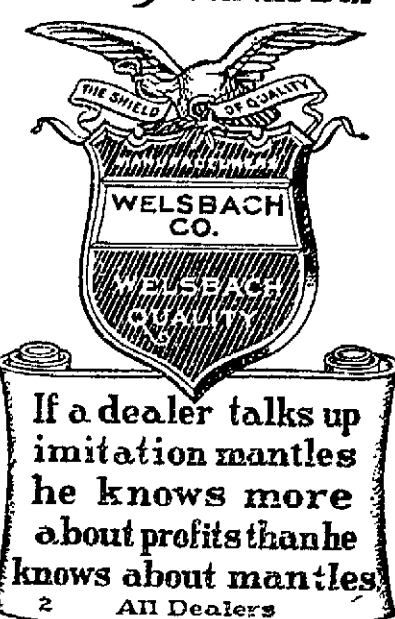

"There was that feller Atlas," he said, musing. "He was strong beyond anything that we have nowadays. Why, he supported the heavens on his head and hands; held 'em up in place till they got kind of set, I judge. What muscle such a man as that must have had!" And Mr. Cobb doubled his right fist and brought it up to his shoulder while the fingers of his left hand felt his arm with apparent satisfaction.

"What an appetite he must have had," said Mrs. Cobb tartly. "And while he was supporting the heavens—work the Lord could have done without any of his help—I'll risk but what his wife was supporting him! And tomorrow I guess your cold'll be well enough so you can go over to the squire's and begin on that wood they want chopped and piled."

NEWS OF THE STATE

AND NEIGHBORHOOD

NEWARK RANGE

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE THERE THIS SPRING.

Butts are to be multiplied and firing from 1000 yards to be made practicable.

Columbus, O., Feb. 29.—Improvements on the rifle range of Camp William McKinley, west of Newark, are contemplated and are to be made in time for practice when the winter is over and it becomes feasible to have range practice for the regulars at the Columbus barracks and the National Guard troops of the state. It is proposed that the butts be multiplied and that the firing from the extreme range of 1000 yards be made practicable and safe.

Captain Winder, who is to have charge of the small arms practice, is awaiting the government orders on the gallery practice before systematizing the work. The range rules have not arrived from Washington, and pending their receipt tests of various kinds of ammunition will be made. The new inspector on General Dick's staff is a firm believer in rule practice and has so expressed himself. He is in favor, not merely of a drilling soldier, but a marksman soldier.

POSTOFFICES

AT THURSTON AND BALTIMORE ARE ROBBED

Over $700 in Cash and Stamps Secured by Thieves Who Escaped—Detectives Find no Clue.

Lancaster, O., Feb. 29. — The post-offices at Thurston and Baltimore were robbed Sunday morning.

At Thurston the robbers effected an entrance to the building by prying a door open. The safe was blown with nitroglycerin and $125 in money and $200 in stamps taken. The building was badly damaged.

The shock of the explosion awakened the citizens. A posse was hurriedly organized and started in pursuit of the robbers, who had stolen a horse and buggy from the livery stable of L. W. Wharton with which to effect their escape.

When the pursuers reached Baltimore they found the postoffice there had been robbed in the same manner as at Thurston.

At Baltimore $200 in money and $250 worth of stamps were secured. The people of that place were also aroused by the shock from the explosion when the safe was blown, and many ran to the postoffice with guns, arriving on the scene in time to see the robbers drive out of town in a northerly direction.

United States secret service men are searching for the robbers, but have found no clue.

Three strange men who have been loitering about the town are supposed to be the perpetrators.

The name of the Thurston postmaster is George Haver. The Baltimore postmaster is John W. Jones.

AXES

USED BY BROTHERS-IN-LAW IN FEARFUL DUEL.

Fought Near Five Points, Saturday Afternoon—One Man May Die from Wounds.

Five Points, O., Feb. 29.—Samuel Ryan and Samuel Hunter, brothers-in-law, had a terrific fight on the farm of the latter near here, with axes.

Hunter was horribly hacked by the keen blade, which Ryan wielded with probably fatal effect, and was only saved from being murdered on the spot by the interference of J. M. Hatfield and Edward Wright, county infirmario director.

Hunter was carried to the infirmary, where his wounds were attended to by the house physician.

DEATH

Claims the Wife Just Seven Weeks After the Husband Was Buried.

Columbus, O., Feb. 29.—Mrs. Nellie Ramsey, whose husband was buried here just seven weeks ago, passed away at her mother's home at Carnegie, Pa. She had not been enjoying good health for some time and the worry and care incident to her husband's illness and death, hastened her demise.

Two children survive, Lucile, aged five, and Stuart, aged three. They will be cared for by relatives.

Mrs. Balfour Snyder of this city, a sister-in-law of Mr. Ramsey; Mrs. S. E. Ramsey, of Franklin avenue, and Mrs. C. W. Ramsey of the North Side will attend the funeral.

BLOOD POISON

Resulted From Severe Burns Received a Week Ago by a Man While Drunk.

Columbus, Feb. 29.—Saturday afternoon Robert Krumm, who resided with his sister east of the city, was sent to the county jail for safe-keeping. Krumm, who had been an employee of the Rarig works, was rather a hard drinker, and about one week ago fell on a red-hot stove, receiving very severe burns.

He had been drinking Saturday and about 3 p. m. on that day was sent to the jail by friends. Later he was taken by a brother to the sanatorium at Shepard's, where about 1 o'clock Sunday morning he died of blood poisoning as the result of his injuries.

He was about 35 years of age and single. He leaves several brothers and sisters. The family is quite prominent.

ANNIVERSARY

OF COUPLE'S SILVER WEDDING WAS PREVENTED

By the Wife's Mother According to an Alienation Damage Suit Filed by the Husband.

Youngstown, O., Feb. 29.—Wm. S. Rudge, inspector of the water works department, Saturday afternoon filed a sensational petition in court against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Fellows, a wealthy lady, demanding $20,000 damages for alienating the affections of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudge were married 25 years ago Saturday, and he asserts that if it had not been for the conduct of his mother-in-law he would have been celebrating his silver wedding anniversary that evening. He alleges that by reason of the efforts of the defendant she induced his wife to leave him and return home, and refuses him the privileges of seeing either his wife or his children.

Mr. Rudge has been a resident of the city for many years and sustains a high reputation.

BOYS FOUGHT

DEADLY DUEL OVER AFFECTIONS OF A GIRL.

Woodsfield Lad Killed by Rival With a Pocketknife—Slayer Had Been Challenged by Victim.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 29.—At Woodsfield, two schoolboys, Alvin C. McCullom and Paul Barrackman, fought an impromptu duel Saturday. Barrackman's throat was cut from car to ear and he died in a few minutes. The boys had been attending school together and were rivals for the affections of a school girl.

Barrackman, it is said, became enraged at McCullom over a trivial matter and challenged him to fight. McCullom refused but on his road home was met by Barrackman, who had a revolver in his hand. He pointed the weapon at McCullom, who seized his wrist and struck at him with an open penknife, which he happened to have in his hand.

The boys are each about 16 years old. McCullom is in the Woodsfield jail.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

Wooster, O., Feb. 29.—Samuel Martin, aged 70, was killed in a runaway accident. The horse took fright at an automobile.

BASE BALL

PROSPECTS FOR THE SEASON AT GRANVILLE.

Philpot, the Star Twirler, is Missing, but There Are Some New Men. Schedule Not Arranged.

Granville, O., Feb. 29.—It is almost too early as yet to talk baseball for the coming season, and what prospects Denison's team has in the inter-collegiate race in 1904 are entirely conjectural. The feeling, however, is one of confidence that the showing of Denison's diamond representatives will be entirely creditable.

It can hardly be expected that Denison will have as strong a team as last season, which won the state championship. Philpot, the star twirler, will be missing, and Captain Flanagan, the outfielder, graduated last June. Scott, who played great ball at second, will also be missing, and these places will be hard to fill.

The new baseball material is limited and nothing is known of the ability of those who will be candidates for the team. Taylor, quarter back on last year's football team; Sperry, from Washington, D. C., and Parkhurst are the new men most talked about, while Chambers will have to do the bulk of the pitching. This young twirler made a worthy running mate to Philpot last season, and is expected to do even better this year.

Manager Whalon has not yet completed the schedule of games, but expects to announce it in a short time.

Roudebush, the sensational shortstop, will captain the team this year from his infield position, which many believe will be much better than an outfield captain.

CHURCH WAR

Because of Advertising of Services Threatened in Zanesville.

Zanesville, O., Feb. 29.—This city is threatened with a church war which in turn may partially disrupt more than one congregation. For the past several weeks the Second Presbyterian church has been carrying a display advertisement of its Sunday evening services in all the daily papers here. Not to be outdone in the matter, the Rev. Frank W. Bope, rector of St. James Episcopal church, in paid local notices, advertised the cathedral services at St. James church. That "it pays to advertise" has been demonstrated because ever since the Presbyterian congregation began to use display space the church has been crowded to its full capacity each Sunday evening.

The church rivalry began with the introduction of cathedral services at St. James a couple of years ago, and many of the congregations complained of the fact that these special services had a disagreeable effect upon the attendance at the evening services of other churches. The manner in which the Second Presbyterian congregation has met the issue, however, and the retaliatory tactics of the Episcopal church has created no end of comment.

BOLD BOYS

Played Bandits, Held Up Passenger Train and Nearly Killed the Engineer—Arrests Made.

Franklin, Ind., Feb. 29.—George Logan and Arthur Johnson, both colored and 13 years old, have been arrested, charged with shooting at a J. M. & D. passenger train. A warrant has also been issued for James Campbell, colored, aged 12, but the police are unable to find the boy. Johnson was subsequently released because of insufficient evidence.

The attempt to hold up the train occurred near this city. The train was moving slowly at the time. One of the number, who commanded the engineer to stop, fired through the cab window, narrowly missing the engineer. Another bullet shattered a glass in the smoking car window. The train was stopped and the trainmen pursued the fleeing boys who were successful in eluding their pursuers.

PINNED

To the Coon Skin Was the Story of How Trapper Burris Met Death. Fought With Coon.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 29.—The story of the death of an old trapper has reached Evansville pinned to a coon skin. The skin was declared to be the price of a human life. The skin was received by a local firm in a shipment of furs from Cave-in-Rock, Ill.

James A. Lowry, who is a merchant in Cave-in-Rocks, purchased the skin from the relatives of the dead trapper. The death made such an impression on the merchant that he was constrained to write a placard, which he pinned to the pelt, and requested that it be kept on the fur as long as possible.

Mr. Lowry stated that the name of the trapper was John Burris, and that he was nearly 70 years old. He set some traps on a high bluff, overlooking the Ohio river, near Cave-in-Rocks. On the day of his death he went to visit the traps, and it is supposed that the coon showed fight when the old man approached. The bleeding and mangled body of Burris was found by friends at the foot of the bluff. He had fallen a distance of 65 feet and the coon and trap had gone over with him. The coon was killed by the fall.

FARMERS COMPLAINING OVER LACK OF WATER

Mrs. Wilcox's Funeral—The Senior Banquet Postponed—Pedro Club. Personal Points.

Granville, O., Feb. 29.—Some of the farmers in this vicinity have been experiencing considerable difficulty in obtaining water for their stock, on account of the weather, which they say has been unprecedented within their memory. The usual rains throughout the winter have been almost entirely lacking. A number of the farmers have been compelled to haul water for the use of their stock, and the rains up to date have not brought sufficient relief.

A cow that was being led by a boy on Sunday evening, became frightened on Burg street, broke loose and ran amuck, but fortunately no one was hurt. Had the accident happened on a week day, some one would probably have been hurt, as quite a number of school children are on the street at that hour.

A charming evening was enjoyed by a number of the members of the Granville Pedro club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Dye on Wednesday evening of last week. There were sixteen members of the club present as follows: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Perry E. Smoke aged 38, a nemployee of the Jewett Car Works died very suddenly Saturday on a Buckeye Lake car, coming into Newark a little before 7 o'clock.

Mr. Smoke who lives on Pine street had worked all day as usual and dressed in the evening to go to town as was his custom on Saturday night. He was a man of jovial disposition and never seemed in brighter, happier mood than an hour before his death.

He boarded a Buckeye Lake car near his home on Pine street, which was crowded with passengers, and when the car got near Buehler's grocery, it was noticed that he was ill. Several passengers went to his aid, and it was supposed he had a fit of some kind. He suddenly fell forward, half into the aisle and before any could realize the suddenness of it all, was a corpse.

The car pulled into Newark and around to the track in front of the Auditorium. Coroner C. F. Legge was summoned who soon came and viewed the remains.

AGAINST TWINS

This Englishman Has Taken Out an Insurance Policy.

New York, Feb. 29.—A London cable to the Sun says:

The recent death in Berlin of the performing chimpanzee Consul has brought to light another of those strange risks taken by Lloyds. It transpires that Consul, whose London engagements were worth from 200 to 300 pounds weekly, was insured for 20,000 pounds at the rate of 10 guineas per cent for a year.

It is now a common thing to insure horses. St. Simon, now a very old horse, is insured for 20,000 pounds, and Flying Fox is insured for 30,000 pounds. During the present week a gentleman paid 7 guineas per cent on a 200-pound policy insuring him against twins.
